A Market Morning

Prepare

Print one chosen participant sheet per person and keep the answer notes. Pens only. No shopping or real spending is needed.

Read aloud to open

Imagine we are planning a friendly visit to a small indoor market. There are several possible choices; we will compare prices and make a plan together.

Run the activity

Give each person the easy or regular sheet. Read the market list aloud. Let people work alone or in pairs. Ask volunteers to explain one choice, then check with the notes.

Easy choice

Find a stall for each item and circle two items that cost less than $10 together.

Regular choice

Plan three purchases within a $15 budget and calculate the change. More than one combination can be correct.

Read aloud to close

There is no best shopping style. We found several ways to make a small plan from the same market list.

Optional group conversation

- Which stall would you add to this imaginary market?
- What would make a market pleasant to browse?
